

TECHNOLOGY MADE FOR HUMANS

WE CREATE DIGITAL SEARCH AND DISCOVERY
TECHNOLOGY DESIGNED FOR HUMANS

EMPATHY.CO

Do you think technology should be more human-friendly? That it ought to adapt and relate to us as humans rather than forcing us to fit into its world.

If so, then a career with empathy.co could be just what you're searching for...

WHO IS EMPATHY.CO?

These days, we spend almost as much time in the digital world as we do in the physical. Without a second thought, we turn to it to look for food, fun, and even love. Yet have you ever noticed how clunky, cold, and unintuitive that world can feel? How you often have to adapt to it rather than it adjusting to you? We certainly have.

Ever since 2012, we've been on a mission to improve our digital world by inventing and developing ways to make it more intuitive, truthful and joyful. Whether we're looking for entertainment, information, or something to buy, most of the time the starting point, and way we interact, is through the search box.

We see search as a means of communication. For us, that means it should be created to evoke happiness and playfulness, and it should be formed from empathy. We like to do things differently and that's the reason why our technology is used by some of the biggest brands across fashion, FMGC, tech and groceries, companies like Mango, Casa del Libro, Vodafone and Consum. It's also how, on a daily basis, we're able to improve search to make it more relatable for millions of users around the world.

We develop innovative search platforms, APIs, interfaces and technologies that really get people, understanding what they're looking for, creating moments of joy and inspiring them with intuitive suggestions. We also capture all of that invaluable search data to provide visualisations, alerts, predictions and actions to keep on evolving and improving. We love to reimagine and explore what defines a successful search experience, beyond returning the right result, to make it more enjoyable, more transparent, and, yes you got it, more human.

But, that's enough about us.

What about you?

WHERE DO YOU WANT TO WORK?

Do you want to be part of an established company that has the energy, imagination and drive of a start-up?

How about a self-financed company with the freedom to dictate its own future and provide you with the opportunities and space you need to innovate?

Maybe you'd like a profitable and rapidly expanding company that's one of the leading tech employers in Asturias with over 60 people across Spain, the UK and USA?

Or a company that offers plenty of perks, such as competitive salaries, flexible hours, private medical insurance, free English classes, an office gym and access to training, events, and conferences worldwide?

Perhaps it's a team of creative, motivated, and enthusiastic individuals you're looking for, people who always question the way things are done and have fun in the process?

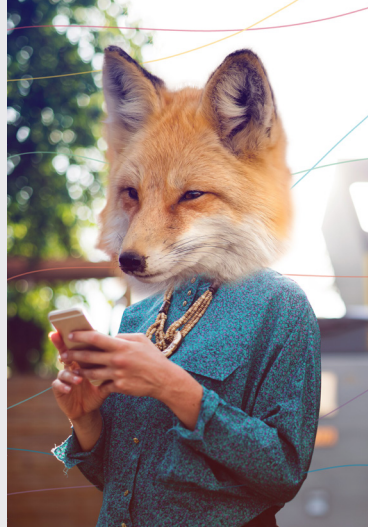

Sound like the place for you? Then you're going to fit right in here at empathy.co.

We're always on the lookout for talented people, whether that's junior or experienced Engineers, Developers or Analysts. Visit www.empathy.co/search-made-for-humans for more information and a full list of our current vacancies.

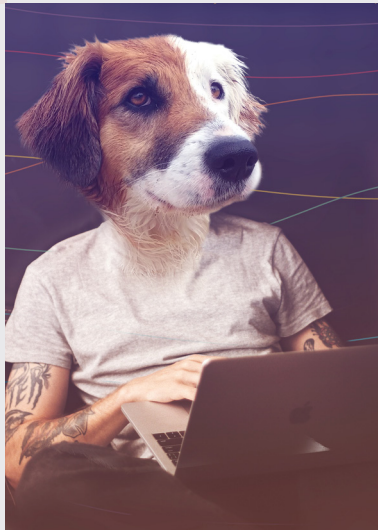

“Aside from the flexibility, the workspace, and the equipment, the best thing about working here is the high level of technical capabilities.”

ÁLVARO PANIZO
Search Engineer

“It’s more like a family than a company.”

JOSE A. CABAÑEROS
Frontend Engineer

“You’re constantly surrounded by people with knowledge in many different areas. I’ve learnt a lot.”

ANA GONZÁLEZ
Customer Success Engineer

EMPATHY.CO

LONDON | ASTURIAS | GALICIA

jobs@empathy.co

